Creative Freedom to run your Business

With all the activities associated with running a company, it's so easy for directors to overlook crucial statutory obligations. Bryden Johnson eliminates the risk of incurring severe penalties for non-compliance or late filing of returns. Also, due to our straightforward, transparent fixed fee structure, budgeting is yet another thing you don't have to be concerned about. By taking care of all the important, onerous red tape, we give you the peace of mind, control and certainty to focus on the more creative, income-generative aspects of your business.

Company Formations and Dissolutions

Starting a new enterprise is like being faced with a blank canvas. It's a time of high energy and creativity, yet we know how vital it is to get the structure right first time. Our forward-thinking approach considers every nuance from formation to dissolution.

Annual Returns

The annual return is a snap-shot of your key company information at a point in time. We capture that moment perfectly and create all the documentation to keep you in the frame.

Dormant and Non-Trading Accounts

Even dormant and non-trading companies have deadlines to meet. We help you fulfil your obligations as a business owner by filing these returns on time, leaving you free to run your core business.

Dividend Vouchers

We apply our close attention to detail to recording dividend payments formally in board minutes and issue dividend vouchers to the relevant shareholders.

Appointments

We prepare all of the documentation in respect of changes to the company's structure as soon as these occur, including the appointments and resignations of officers.

Shares

Our Company Secretarial Services, which are designed around your specific needs, include the allotment and transfer of shares, documenting increases in share capital and even changes in share categories.

Registered Office

As professional advisers, we support you by making available our business address as the official registered office of your company. We notify you of any correspondence and handle all communications professionally.

Companies House

With Bryden Johnson, you can be confident that all the formal filing at Companies House is completed promptly, accurately and cost-effectively. When it comes to managing the paper trail, we think of everything. So you don't have to.
